THE HOUSE

House of Mittal produces across three labels: LXV Wine, Meso by LXV, and Maison Mittal. The portfolio draws from Paso Robles' Willow Creek AVA, Santa Barbara County, and Saint-Émilion Grand Cru Classé. Founded by Neeta and Kunal Mittal, the house has been recognized by Wine Enthusiast, Somm Journal, Jeb Dunnuck, Decanter, and Forbes. Combined production across all three labels is under 4,000 cases annually.

The portfolio is Bordeaux-rooted: Cabernet Franc, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, vinified with minimal intervention. Winemaker Jeff Streckas (formerly ONX Wines) leads production at Armaa.N Estate; Frédéric Ammons (formerly Harlan Estate, Rudd Estate) consults on the Saint-Émilion program.

THE ESTATE

LXV's home is Armaa.N Estate in Paso Robles' Willow Creek AVA, known for ancient limestone soils, significant day-to-night temperature variation, and consistent afternoon winds that produce wines of structure, precision, and aging potential. The limestone at Armaa.N is rare in California and geologically similar to Saint-Émilion, the connection that makes the LXV and Maison Mittal portfolios coherent across two continents.

Another source, G2 North Vineyard, is organically farmed hillside land near Saxum's celebrated James Berry Vineyard, one of the most sought-after addresses in Paso Robles.

SPICE PAIRING PROGRAM

LXV's spice pairing program, informed by Ayurvedic flavor principles, is one of the only programs of its kind in American wine. Neeta Mittal leads pairing workshops available to hospitality partners as a guest experience or sommelier training event. The program has drawn national coverage and is a cornerstone of LXV's tasting room identity.

THE CASE FOR LXVSCORES AT THE TOP

95 to 99 points across Wine Enthusiast, Jeb Dunnuck, Somm Journal, Forbes, and Decanter. The comp set is OVID, Antica Terra, and Saxum. This is a house that earned its position through the work, not through marketing.

PROVEN DEMAND

Critical recognition, an active collector circle, and a tasting room named among the best in America have built genuine consumer pull. The audience exists. The conviction is established.

A STORY THAT TRAVELS

Cross-continental: California precision, Bordeaux discipline. Two engineers who built a wine house from the ground up and earned national recognition doing it. The narrative holds in every room where wine is taken seriously.

WINEMAKING

LXV's approach is rooted in Bordeaux, the region that set the global standard for structured, age-worthy red wine. The varieties, blending discipline, and cellar approach at LXV follow that model. The result is wine built for the table, built to age, and built to hold its value on a serious list.

Cabernet Franc sits at the heart of the portfolio.

CabFrancMasters, the Mittals' dedicated Cab Franc education platform, has attracted a global following among collectors and winemakers who share that conviction. LXV farms organically; winemaking follows the same principle: hands-on, artisanal, and unhurried.

OUR ETHOS

Armaa.N Estate is farmed regeneratively and organically: no synthetic inputs, minimal intervention, and an integrated ecosystem of olive groves, lavender, and a preserved 50-year-old pine forest managed to protect soil health and long-term wine quality. The same principle runs through the cellar: unhurried, hands-on, and without shortcuts.

The house believes wine and taste are not indulgences but essential human experiences. That conviction extends beyond the glass: Neeta Mittal has worked with the Cancer Support Community to develop a spice-based sensory recovery protocol for survivors rebuilding their relationship with flavor, work recognized nationally.

The scores are there. The story is there.

The demand is there.
